Our pros are the champs

Tennis director Norman Schellenger and pro Leandro Gutierrez took top honors in men's doubles at the tenth annual Mercedes Benz Tennis Tournament held at the Coral Oaks Tennis Club in Miami February 14-16.

Norm and Leandro played their first doubles tournament together. It was a clean sweep for the duo as they did not drop a set during the entire tournament.

Congratulations, Norm and Leandro!

It is now confirmed: Our club's pros practice what they preach with stunning results. You lesson takers and clinic participants should soon be ready to qualify for next year's Nasdaq-100.

Clinics and lessons are the thing

Your editor spent the first day of the Nasdaq-100 watching the pros practice.

There were Lindsay Davenport, James Blake, etc., etc., hitting, and hitting some more, and listening to the advice of those who accepted the responsibility to take them to the top.

Get the message? Practice makes perfect.

Pre-Nasdaq Grove Isle tournament sets more records

The day after St. Patrick's Day when good-luck shamrocks get tossed and just one day before the pros get tossed into the awe-inspiring arena on Key Biscayne, Grove Isle tennis set records of its own on March 18: record attendance and a record number of champions.

The Grove Isle sluggers. This picture of serenity was taken before the action began.

The 28 participants in the mixed doubles tournament produced a five-way tie among

1. Maruca Crosby and Patrick Lira
2. Grace Korse and John Carlson
3. Marlene Reetz and Michael Hughes
4. Mary Ann Shockley and Mel Gutsell
5. Hetty Van de Kreeke and Steve Becker.

And the declared winners by "number pulling out of a hat" were Mary Ann and Mel.

"It was fun tonight," read one email message and echoed the sentiment of all.

Norm Schellenger's tennis tip

The heat is back. So remember — you out there on the court — to drink plenty of fluids. A tip on keeping cool: take a bandana filled with ice and tie it around your neck. It will keep your body temperature down while chasing after the ball. You see, I'm smart, and also wear a big hat.
